NEAT AND STYLISH—D. GUNDLING &amp; CO.

NEAT AND STYLISH,

That's the idea, and he catches it with his suit. We catch it with ours, handsomely and surprisingly. Our stock is a procession of stunning suits at still more stunning prices. It's a three-fold combination we offer: style, wear, and dressiness. A comparison of any particular suit with the price is always a big surprise. An examination of our suits, overcoats, and ulsters, will expel all doubts on the clothing question. In quality, fit and make-up, we lead all. Come where you get less tape, more for your money and less trouble than if you went to a merchant tailor.

Fur Garments.

GEO. R. TAYLOR.

Our Cloak Department having been replenished by arrivals on Saturday we are prepared to show to-day the best line of smooth and rough cloth Jackets and Capes and Fur Garments we have had this season. All of our garments are correct in style and material and none go out of the department that are not perfect fitting. Our stock of Fur Capes embraces all kinds of genuine furs now used in garments and are guaranteed to turn out just as we recommend them. If you want to buy a Cloth Jacket or a Cloth Cape or a Fur Cape it will pay you to comply with our cordial invitation to call and see what we will do for you before buying elsewhere. To call and see will cost you nothing and may be money in your pocket.

Don't Lose Sight

Of the most brilliant and active Curtain and Upholstery Department in the city. Our styles and designs are strictly up to date. Our own goods draped, when desired, by the head of the department.

Linen Department.

This department embraces everything in the way of housekeeping goods and is under the management of an expert in linens, who buys and sells none but the best. As to prices in this, and all other departments, we feel safe in saying that they are at least as low—quality considered—as in any city east or west.

THE BUILDING LAW.

The Council Committee Makes Slow Progress on it.

EACH CLAUSE IS CONSIDERED

With Great Care by the Committee—A Number of Knotty Points Came up last Night, and After a Lengthy Meeting the Committee is Still Not Ready to Report the Result of its Labors—It will Probably be Several Weeks Before the Ordinance is Ready to Submit to Council.

Last evening the special council committee on the proposed building inspection ordinance held a long meeting. Mr. Hamilton in the chair. Considerable progress was made toward framing an ordinance, but a great deal of work remains to be done. The subcommittee presented the measure it had had drawn up, but the main committee had different views on many subjects, and there were several blanks to fill.

The first section provides that the inspector shall be an architect or practical builder. This caused considerable discussion, especially as to what constituted a competent man, but this the subcommittee had provided for by stipulating that the inspector must have had at least ten years' experience in his business, whether an architect or builder.

The matter of salary caused the next discussion. A proposal was made that it should be $1,000 a year. This was objected to by several members, who said they did not want a cheap man. After some talk the salary was made $1,200.

Mr. Farrell had a decided objection to the number of sections in the ordinance. He wanted to reduce the number of these, even if the ordinance was not shortened, and to gratify him several sections were consolidated, without reducing the ordinance of any of its verbiage. Mr. Farrell said that "people down street" were scared when they saw a statement that there were 95 sections in the ordinance, and he wanted to ease their minds.

The prospect is that it will be several weeks before the measure is in shape to be submitted to council, and then it will no doubt take several meetings to perfect and pass it.

THE HEALTH BOARD

Has an Interesting Meeting—Work at the Garbage Crematory.

The council health committee had some difficulty in getting a quorum last night. Finally Mr. Farrell was called to the chair, in the absence of Dr. Stathers, and bills for $162 were examined and ordered paid. Dr. Jepson read an outline of a communication he had received from the health board. He said in it that any fresh outbreak of smallpox might be attributed to wearing infected clothing. He mentioned a case or two of the disease in which it seemed impossible to ascertain the source of the contagion.

The superintendent of the crematory was on motion directed to make a monthly report of the work done and the condition of the furnace, and to attend the committee's meetings at least once a month. It was stated that the crematory had gas sufficient to burn all the stuff by working day and night. Sometimes the supply was adequate at night, and at other times the fires had to be kept going part of the day to consume all the garbage, etc. The gas company has been furnishing the fuel, however, as needed.

NATURAL GAS PRICES.

Plenty of Gas at Pittsburgh at a Fifteen Cent Rate.

The following article, printed in a recent issue of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, has naturally attracted some attention and caused some comment in Wheeling. In view of the present dispute about natural gas prices:

The Philadelphia Company promises an abundant supply of natural gas to all consumers this winter. This is the usual fall announcement. A new system has been adopted to protect the domestic consumer against the waste of gas by manufacturing firms, which has been the cause of the trouble largely in the past few years. The manufacturing plants have been supplied heretofore under contract. The general practice has been to turn the valves wide open at the factories and shops before the domestic consumers' breakfast time and leave the dwelling houses with little or no gas for the entire day.

As gas will follow the line of the least resistance, it has resulted that the manufacturing establishments secured about all the gas in the main and the dwelling houses almost none. To prevent this the company has required the big consumers to take gas upon the measurement system, the same as the domestic consumers. It is calculated that when all consumers are made to pay for gas by measurement, they will be more economical in its use.

John R. McGinley, of the Philadelphia Company, in speaking of this introduction of meters, said: "We have been making the change for some time. It is necessary for several reasons. It will compel the consumers to be more economical. Besides, we wish to be paid for what gas we supply and do not intend to give it away."

"We expect to give the manufacturer gas cheaper by this system also. We will start out at 15 cents per thousand and seven cents less than the domestic consumer's price. In the summer months, of course, the rates will be lower. The supply this winter will be ample for all requirements. We will not tap the Big Mores well until about January 1, when the necessities of our patrons will be the greatest."

Competition has forced the Philadelphia Company to look for business. Instead of making the public supplicate for a supply, this company has now a corps of canvassers out doing the supplicating act to the people and trying to induce them to buy gas from the Philadelphia Company. The Equitable and other companies adopted the meter plan for manufacturing over a year ago and held their domestic patrons.

HE MAY SURVIVE.

A Painter Has a Bad Fall at the New Mc-Mechen Factory.

Yesterday afternoon one of James McAdams & Company's painters, Robert Springer, of the South Side, was at work doing exterior painting on the new progressive works building of the Mc-Mechen Company, when he met with a bad accident, from which, however, he may escape miraculously with his life. He was on a swinging platform at the third story when the ladder swung unexpectedly and precipitated Springer to the ground, about thirty feet below. The piled up earth was soft on account of the recent rains, and this fact probably saved the man's life. He escaped with one broken rib, numerous bruises, and possibly internal injuries, which the physician, Dr. Manley, could not determine last evening.

It is amusing to notice the great effort our city's bakers are making to imitate the Wheeling Bakery's many varieties of fine bread. They show themselves perfectly destitute of our original idea, and the height of their ambition is to produce a loaf like "Jubilee," "Quaker," "Sweet Home," or "Corn Meal." The Wheeling Bakery conducts the manufacture of bread on scientific principles. The wonderful formulas that produce such excellent results are the exclusive property of the bakery. Always ask your grocer for this bread. Their seal on every loaf.

THE PROPOSED DAM.

The Chamber of Commerce Committee Will Meet Wednesday Evening.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week it was resolved to appoint a committee to urge upon Congress the construction of a dam at a point below Bellaire. This is in line with the idea of the Ohio River Improvement Association, that each community shall work for that improvement which comes nearest to it and that all shall pull together in the general cause.

President Quarrier yesterday announced the committee, as follows: Charles Burdett Hart, F. H. Lange, N. B. Scott, Col. Thomas O'Brien, B. W. Peterson, Major Ian. Stalnaker. This committee will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the room of the Chamber of Commerce.

It is hoped that neighboring communities will send to this meeting representatives who will join with Wheeling to make the movement a success. President Quarrier would have sent formal invitations if he had known of organized commercial bodies to communicate with. In a matter of this common interest it is hoped that no formality will be allowed to stand in the way of a general and cordial co-operation.

Thanksgiving Day Excursions.
